Part 6 - Antifa & the Capitol Riot

More To The Story

It's been incredible to see the different ways people from all ends of the political spectrum have reacted to the events that transpired during the January 6th "Save America" rally. The media, the democrats, the RINOs and Big tech want us to believe that Trump was trying to get his supporters to overthrow the government. There are even Trump supporters who blame Trump for what happened while not going so far as to say this was his attempt at a coup.

Then there is the rest of us.

We know Trump is always thinking 10 steps ahead. We know he doesn't do anything without having thought of every possible outcome first. He doesn't ask a question he doesn't already know the answer to. Trump was selling this as the rally to "Save America" from the stolen election. There was going to be a million MAGA patriots in attendance. Antifa had been infiltrating events all summer. It was so obvious that they would do it again at this rally. "What was Trump thinking"? There has to be more to the story!

One of the themes throughout this Devolution series has been "We need to think bigger". If we step back and look at everything in context, I believe we can come to an alternative conclusion that shows there is indeed much more to the story.

What is Antifa?

The term Antifa is a combination of the words "Anti-Fascist". Robert Stilson from the Capital Research Center has a great series trying to explain exactly who Antifa is. Here are the links and a screenshot below of his definition of Antifa:

Antifa FAQs: What Is Antifa?

Antifa FAQs: Where Did Antifa Come From?

Antifa FAQs: What Does Antifa Want?

Antifa FAQs: Who Supports Antifa?

In his recent book Unmasked: Inside Antifa's Radical Plan to Destroy Democracy, journalist Andy Ngo defines Antifa as “an ideology and movement of radical pan-leftist politics whose adherents are mainly militant anarchist communists or collectivist anarchists. . . . What unites this group of leftists is its opposition to so-called fascism, though importantly, what is defined as fascism is left wide open.” Historian Mark Bray gives a broadly similar definition of “anti-fascism” in Antifa: The Anti-Fascist Handbook. To him, it is “an illiberal politics of social revolutionism applied to fighting the Far Right, not only literal fascists.”

Contemporary American Antifa is probably best thought of as a movement or ideology, rather than an organization. This presents a descriptive and definitional problem right from the start because many may broadly identify with Antifa beliefs and practices without necessarily being affiliated with any actual Antifa group. Bray has opined, “The radical left is much bigger than antifa—much, much bigger.” Who then qualifies as being part of Antifa? It is impossible to put a precise number on Antifa membership, and describing any putative far-left protester or rioter as “Antifa” would broaden that term beyond a point where it would have any useful meaning.

There are Antifa organizations, however, and they represent the most logical place to focus any inquiry. Such groups often explicitly self-identify as Antifa, but observers have also described them as such, noting obvious defining characteristics. Antifa groups typically operate locally. For example, Rose City Antifa—the oldest and arguably most prominent extant Antifa group in the United States—is active in Portland, Oregon, while Atlanta Antifascists operates in that metropolitan area. As far as anyone knows, these groups are not organized hierarchically, and there is no individual “leader” of Antifa.

That point is important. Even our own FBI director Chris Wray testified that Antifa is an ideology, not an organization. Just keep that in mind as we continue.

Antifa has been operating in the United States since the 1980s but were relatively under the radar. That was until 2017 when the first notable violent display took place at the Unite the Right rally in Charlottesville.

This was all against the backdrop of the first year of Donald Trump’s presidency—a presidency that was the political personification of much of what the Left despised. Reflecting Trump’s (and his supporters’) significance to Antifa, Bray wrote in 2017, “Our goal should be that in twenty years those who voted for Trump are too uncomfortable to share that fact in public.” A member of Rose City Antifa told Buzzfeed News, “Before Trump, being antifa was more of a bizarre hobby that people had.”

“Our goal should be in 20 years those who voted for trump are too uncomfortable to share that fact in public.” That quote is quite terrifying but it is exactly how Antifa and the Democrats view anybody who supports Trump. They want us silenced. Antifa, along with some of the radical BLM groups have turned into the militant arm of the liberal left.

As we all know, 2020 brought about an unprecedented wave of violence. This stemmed from the media driven narrative of racism and police brutality in our country. Antifa would use the Black Lives Matter movement as a springboard for their rioting and anarchy. “Defund the police” quickly became the BLM rallying cry and the riots that ensued could be described as a war between BLM/Antifa and Law & Order.

The democrats and their media lackeys spent all summer claiming the protests were “Mostly Peaceful” and used the narrative to attack Trump. The democrats refused to condemn Antifa. Ben Shapiro said it best:

Mr. Biden simply cannot condemn antifa or BLM by name, because to do so would be to recognize two simple truths: first, that Mr. Trump isn't the chief source of violence in American cities; second, that in spite of his “return to normalcy” message, Mr. Biden's “systemic racism” narrative provides the ideological groundwork for those who seek to tear down the system. Democrats have spent months denying the violence, calling Mr. Trump a fascist for offering federal help and decrying the American system. The fruits are on full display for everyone to see. And so, Mr. Biden must bluff, and the media must cover for him.

Everything that happened in 2020 was about the election. That is all the Democrats and media cared about. They were desperate to get Trump out of office. They used Covid as a pretext to not only take away as much of our freedom as possible, but also to institute illegal voting mechanisms to steal the election. That wasn't enough. Trump was still massively popular so they pulled out their “go to” move from their playbook.

Racism.

They wanted to frame Trump and his supporters as white supremacists who have caused all this racism in our country. They needed a race war to blame on us. They used Antifa to fuel the flames and the Democrat governors did nothing to stop the madness, calling Trump a tyrant for even thinking about interfering with federal troops or the military. They wanted to cause chaos to make Trump look bad. Antifa was clearly organized. They would fly all over the country to different protests. They would consistently get bailed out of jail and left off the hook by leftist AG's and Judges. This was not merely an idea. This was terrorism.

Law & Order

What I'm going to focus on now is some of the interesting things that happened behind the scenes & how this all ties in with January 6th and Devolution. Here is the timeline of events following the death of George Floyd.

- May 25th - George Floyd Dies
- May 31 - Urgent email sent granting DEA authority to conduct covert surveillance and prevent against threats to public safety
- May 31 - PDJT tweets that the USA will be designating Antifa as a terrorist organization (even though that didn't happen....yet)
- June 1st - Trump urges governors to deploy national guard and “Threatens” he would mobilize every available federal force both “civilian and military” to end violent protests.

- June 1st - Trump makes surprise visit to Saint John's Church

- June 1st - Hours after Saint John's picture, FBI spy plane started surveilling Washington D.C. protests

Shortly before 11 p.m. on Monday, June 1, just hours after federal police used tear gas and batons to clear protesters from the front of the White House for President Donald Trump's Bible-wielding photo op, a Cessna Citation jet took off from Manassas Regional Airport in Virginia. Until about 1.30 a.m., it flew in a 7-mile circle around central Washington, DC, surveilling the protests, flight tracking records show.

The aircraft is a one-of-a-kind spy plane operated by the FBI, fitted with sophisticated cameras for long-range, persistent video surveillance, day or night. It repeated its late-night circling around the city as protests continued the following two nights, and made a shorter flight on June 6.

- June 3rd and 4th - National Guard uses RC-26 to surveil DC protests

The FBI's Cessna jet wasn't the only sophisticated government spy plane to fly over DC in early June. On June 3 and 4, an RC-26 surveillance aircraft operated by the Air National Guard flew in tighter circles at altitudes of less than 7,000 feet. These planes, like the FBI's jet, are commonly used in counter-drug trafficking operations.

The Air National Guard told Air Force magazine that these flights were "responding to a District of Columbia National Guard request to provide airborne situational awareness of key lines of communication and critical infrastructure within the District."

 Important to note that the President, followed by the DOD, followed by the Secretary of the Army is in charge of the District of Columbia National Guard:

The D.C National Guard was formed in 1802 by President Thomas Jefferson to defend the newly created District of Columbia. As such, the Commanding General of the D.C. National Guard is subordinate solely to the President of the United States. This authority to activate the D.C. National Guard has been delegated, by the President, to the Secretary of Defense and further delegated to the Secretary of the Army. The D.C. National Guard is the only National Guard unit, out of all of the 54 states and territories, which reports only to the President.

- June 4th - AG Barr announces DOJ has evidence of Antifa involvement

We have evidence that Antifa and other similar extremist groups, as well as actors of a variety of different political persuasions, have been involved in instigating and participating in the violent activity, and we are also seeing foreign actors playing all sides to exacerbate the violence. The Department of Justice is working to restore order in the District of Columbia and around the nation.

- June 19th - Reporting confirms the DHS “used helicopters, airplanes and drones in more than 15 cities to watch protests over the killing of George Floyd and obtained more than 270 hours of surveillance”.
- June 26th - Trump issues Executive order for Protecting American Monuments, Memorials, and Statues and Combating Recent Criminal Violence
- June 26th - Barr releases implementation memo for creation of a DOJ task force on violent antigovernment extremists

While some of the challenges to the rule of law that we have seen in recent weeks are fleeting, others are persistent. We have evidence that anti-government violent extremists—including those who support the “Boogaloo,” those who self-identify as Antifa, and others—will pose continuing threats of lawlessness. Some of these violent extremists, moreover, may be fortified by foreign entities seeking to sow chaos and disorder in our country. The Department of Justice will respond to these violent groups in the same way we respond to other organized criminal or terrorist networks—by disrupting their violent activities and ultimately dismantling their capability to threaten the rule of law.

The ultimate goal of the task force will be not only to enable prosecutions of extremists who engage in violence, but to understand these groups well enough that we can stop such violence before it occurs and ultimately eliminate it as a threat to public safety and the rule of law.

So based on the timeline above, we know that surveillance was taking place at these protests. We know there was a task force created to handle extremist groups. We also know that Trump wanted Antifa to be classified as a terrorist organization, something that shouldn't be taken lightly. It is important to understand what that would mean.

The National Counterterrorism Center (NCTC)

The National Counterterrorism Center (NCTC) is the primary organization within the U.S. government responsible for analyzing and integrating all terrorism and counterterrorism information possessed or acquired by U.S. government agencies. Under 50 U.S.C. § 3056, NCTC has broad authority and responsibility within the U.S. government for “analysis of terrorism and terrorist organizations (except purely domestic terrorism and domestic terrorist organizations) from all sources of intelligence, whether collected inside or outside the United States,” including “provide[ing] strategic operational plans for the civilian and military counterterrorism intelligence and operations across agency boundaries, both inside and outside the United States.” NCTC produces a wide range of analytic and threat information for the Key part there is the NCTC doesn't have “broad authority and responsibility” when it comes to “purely domestic terrorism and domestic terrorist organizations”. That falls strictly under the purview of the FBI (who gets assistance from DHS and other agencies). However, once there is a foreign or international aspect, the NCTC pulls rank and takes the lead.

Many people say the Posse Comitatus Act (PCA) from 1878 restricts the use of military in domestic matters and I will cover this in detail in a future piece but there are exceptions to PCA. Specifically when it comes to terrorism, congress has given the President the freedom to do whatever he has to do. Here is an excerpt from the Antiterrorism and Effective Death Penalty Act of 1996 (you only need to read the highlighted parts).

“§ 2339A. Providing material support to terrorists

“(a) OFFENSE.—Whoever, within the United States, provides material support or resources or conceals or disguises the nature, location, source, or ownership of material support or resources, knowing or intending that they are to be used in preparation for, or in carrying out, a violation of section 32, 37, 81, 175, 351, 831, 842 (m) or (n), 844 (f) or (i), 950, 1114, 1116, 1203, 1361, 1363, 1365, 1366, 1751, 2155, 2156, 280, 3281, 3332, 2332a, 2332b, or 2332c of this title or section 4652 of title 40, or in preparation for, or in carrying out, the concealment from the commission of any such violation, shall be fined under this title, imprisoned not more than 10 years, or both.

“(b) DEFINITION.—In this section, the term ‘material support or resources’ means currency or other financial securities, financial services, lodging, training, safehouses, false documentation or identification, communications equipment, facilities, weapons, lethal substances, explosives, personnel, transportation, and other physical assets, except medicine or religious materials.”.

SEC. 324. FINDINGS.

The Congress finds that—

- (1) international terrorism is among the most serious transnational threats faced by the United States and its allies, far eclipsing the dangers posed by population growth or pollution;
- (2) the President should continue to make efforts to counter international terrorism a national security priority;
- (3) because the United Nations has been an inadequate forum for the discussion of cooperative, multilateral responses to the threat of international terrorism, the President should undertake immediate efforts to develop effective multilateral responses to international terrorism as a complement to national counter terrorist efforts;
- (4) the President should use all necessary means, including covert action and military force, to disrupt, dismantle, and destroy international infrastructure used by international terrorists, including overseas terrorist training facilities and safe havens;
- (5) the Congress deplores decisions to ease, evade, or end international sanctions on state sponsors of terrorism, including the recent decision by the United Nations Sanctions Committee to allow airline flights to and from Libya despite Libya’s non-compliance with United Nations resolutions; and
- (6) the President should continue to undertake efforts to increase the international isolation of state sponsors of international terrorism, including efforts to strengthen international sanctions, and should oppose any future initiatives to ease sanctions on Libya or other state sponsors of terrorism.

I wrote the word Terrorism over all those sections because that is what they are referring to and I didn't want to waste your time by showing you each one.

So lets just summarize a few points so we're on the same page.

- In order for military to get involved in handling terrorism, there needs to be a “foreign” or “international” aspect to the group(s) committing the terrorism.
- Trump said the USA will be designating Antifa as a “Terrorist organization”.
- AG Barr said they were “also seeing foreign actors”.
- Multiple agencies (including the District of Columbia National Guard) were using multiple forms of surveillance to monitor the protests. DC NG involvement = Department of Defense and the army.

When you add all this up, it tells me they were treating Antifa as a foreign or international terrorist organization and were using all available resources to track and monitor the members on the ground including the military. Who would be in charge of overseeing an investigation into Antifa as a foreign or international terrorist organization?

The Director of the National Counterterrorism Center (NCTC)

Let's bring back a familiar face, shall we?

The White House said today that President Trump intends to nominate Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Special Operations and Combating Terrorism Christopher Miller to be director of the National Counterterrorism Center, Office of the Director of National Intelligence.

Donald Trump nominated Christopher Miller on March 18th, 2020 and he was sworn in as Director of the NCTC on August 10th.

(Warning, here come the confusing acronyms)

Pay attention to the timeline. Prior to this nomination, he was the Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Special Operations and Combating Terrorism (DASD (SO/CT)). He was in that role from January 6th, 2020 until August 7th and he would directly report to the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Special operations and Low-intensity Conflict (ASD (SO/LIC)).

The ASD(SO/LIC) is supported in his/her work by three Deputy Assistant Secretaries of Defense:

- DASD, Special Operations and Combating Terrorism
- DASD, Partnership Strategy and Stability Operations
- DASD, Counternarcotics and Global Threats

Think back to part 3 in this series. I told you Chris Miller was also “Performing the duties of” ASD (SO/LIC) from June 19th, 2020 - August 7th, 2020 so for that period of time, he served as both the ASD (SO/LIC) & DASD (SO/CT). Here is a reminder of what he did in those roles:

In his current role, Miller is responsible for overseeing the employment of special operations forces in counterterrorism, Military Information Support Operations (MISO), Information Operations, unconventional warfare, irregular warfare, direct action, special reconnaissance, foreign internal defense, counter proliferation, sensitive special operations, and personnel recovery/hostage issues as specified by the Secretary of Defense. Miller was sworn in as the DASD for SOCT on Jan. 6, 2020.

So prior to becoming the Director of the NCTC, Miller was actively overseeing employment of special forces in counterterrorism (including special reconnaissance). Knowing that Antifa was being looked at as a foreign or international terrorist organization, Miller would have been directly involved in the surveillance operations and any other related operations. The same guy at the center of Devolution, is at the center of the Antifa investigation.

Take a listen to this 4 minute clip from an interview released October 8th, 2020. The Clip will start at 29:51. Watch until the 33:33 mark.

Conversation with Chris Miller

Here are some of the key takeaways: “Our [NCTC] remit , FBI has domestic, we support when requested. What we focus on is the links. We do see some connectivity. What we haven’t seen yet is organized, foreign terrorist organizations supporting or directing domestic groups. When the intel backs it up they will get designated... The worst thing these groups can do is have an office on Rhode Island avenue, a post office box and a financial bank account. They have modified their organization structure and how they do things but that’s the key thing we keep our eyes on.”

Now I think we’re ready to go over my main point.

January 6th, 2021

"I know that everyone here will soon be marching over to the Capitol Building to peacefully and patriotically make your voices heard." Those are the words the mainstream media actively buried from the public but if you listened to his speech, those are the words spoken by President Trump. I believe his supporters listened. The Capitol riots was one of the biggest chess moves used by Trump’s enemies.

Remember, they have successfully stolen the election and they were able to deflect, gas light, and spin the narrative all the way to Jan 6th. All they needed to do was have it cemented by the electoral college vote. The only issue was there are legal ways to challenge the vote. Republicans were saying ahead of time they would do so. Lucky for Biden and his friends, the “Capital was breached” and “Trump and his supporters we’re trying to overthrow the government”.

When the dust settled, nobody talked about the challenges to the vote anymore. They swiftly proceeded to “vote” for Biden and here we are. Think about just a few of the things that have happened as a result of that day.

- The “electoral college vote” went through without challenge.
- Social media and big tech used it as a pretext to censor Trump and his supporters.
- They used it to justify a second impeachment even though he had “left” office.
- They used it to go after and imprison Trump supporters just for being in the Capitol, the large majority of which didn’t do anything nefarious.
- They use it to target Trump supporters who weren’t at the Capitol.
- They have used it to start this bogus January 6th commission.
- They continue to use the narrative of the “insurrection” attempting to go invalidate the audits.

How Jan 6th played out was far more beneficial to Trump’s enemies than it was for Trump and it was so obvious that something like this would happen. Antifa is known for infiltrating these types of events yet Trump gave them a massive opportunity to do so. What was he thinking?

As always, he was thinking 10 steps ahead.

Trump set them up.

First let’s look at the timeline of the events

Trump was scheduled to speak at 11:00 AM EST. They plastered his starting time of 11:00 AM everywhere. I personally remember watching the speech and waiting for him to start. It seemed like an eternity because I was so excited. I thought for sure this was the speech he was going to make his “reveal” of how he wouldn’t allow the election to be stolen. He instead was an hour late and started around Noon. It wasn’t the “reveal” we were hoping it would be.

The speech lasted 1 hour and 12 minutes, ending at 1:12 PM EST. Lawmakers gathered for their joint session at the Capitol starting at 1:00 PM EST. The speech was located at the Ellipse, more than a mile and a half from the Capitol. The Capitol barricades were breached at 1:05 PM EST

The math doesn’t add up.

I think Trump was late to speak on purpose because he had intel of what Antifa was planning. The best proof I can provide you of this comes in the form of a memo that has gone almost completely unnoticed. Here are some of the key screenshots:

In particular, reliable reporting suggests that the movement known as Antifa is directly or indirectly responsible for some of the recent lawlessness in our communities, and has exploited tragedies to advance a radical, leftist, anarchist, and often violent agenda. In fact, Antifa has long used otherwise permissible demonstrations to engage in lawless, criminal behavior to further its radical agenda.

The Department of Justice has already publicly confirmed that actions by Antifa and similar groups meet the standard for domestic terrorism.

The violence spurred on by Antifa — such as hurling projectiles and incendiary devices at police, burning vehicles, and violently confronting police in defiance of local curfews — is dangerous to human life and to the fabric of our Nation. These violent acts undermine the rights of peaceful protestors and destroy the lives, liberty, and property of the people of this Nation, especially those most vulnerable.

Note the Date:

PRESIDENTIAL MEMORANDA

Memorandum on Inadmissibility of Persons Affiliated with Antifa Based on Organized Criminal Activity

LAW & JUSTICE | Issued on: January 5, 2021

It's almost as if Trump was telling us exactly what Antifa was about to do; "Antifa has long used otherwise permissible demonstrations to engage in lawless, criminal behavior to further its radical agenda". "These violent acts undermine the rights of peaceful protestors..."

So this memo, which came out the day before the Capitol riots, instructed that "The Secretary of State shall, in consultation with the Attorney General and the Secretary of Homeland Security, review information received from the Department of Justice and other authorities to assess whether to classify Antifa as a terrorist organization under section 1182(a)(3)(B)(vi) of title 8, United States Code."

The timing of this is more than a coincidence. Why was this memorandum issued on January 5th? What changed? As Patrick Gunnels said (Gunnels's Telegram Link) "Trump wanted this to be the biggest rally of all time. He wanted to make sure Antifa would infiltrate it. He knew they would try a false flag event and he goaded them into it". Our military had been monitoring and surveilling Antifa since the summer riots. The events from January 6th were "allowed to happen". Chris Miller even said in an interview that the "Full story hasn't been told".

It's also more than a coincidence that SecDef Miller is so heavily involved here. All summer he was in charge of the special operation units specifically relating to special operations, counterterrorism, and low-intensity conflict. The exact units from our special forces who would be involved figuring out Antifa's network. I showed you in Devolution Part 3 that he was the man under which Devolution was possible. Remember what I have been saying, we are at war! The military has to be involved somehow and on Jan 6th, Trump delegated to the man in charge of our military the authority to decide when to call in the DC Guard.

Officials have said publicly since Jan. 6 that then-President Donald Trump had given Miller full authority to activate the Guard ahead of the planned "Stop the Steal" rally, removing the need for him to consult the president on the day.

This is all connected!

Closing

Who planned Antifa's involvement on Jan 6th? Who in the Democrat party knew it was going to happen? Who paid for it? Why haven't they released all the video from that day? Are there any ties between Antifa and those responsible for stealing our election?

It's not a stretch to say that those who stole the election also planned the "insurrection" as the last move to make sure Trump couldn't interfere with Biden ascending to the "presidency". When the full story does come out, and if my theory is true, the consequences will be profound.

If Antifa had been surveilled since the summer, their network will be mostly mapped out. This would include anybody in our government and anybody overseas who may be involved. Any problems they cause after Trump's "reveal" will be dealt with swiftly and Trump has full authority to deal with them as he needs to. Antifa won't get as long of a leash as they did all of 2020.

Think about this in terms of chess, there are moves and counter moves. In the game of chess, a sacrifice is "giving up one of your chess pieces with the objective of gaining a tactical or positional advantage". This is what January 6th was to Trump. He wanted the electoral college vote to go through because (my theory is) he suspended the vote so the actual counting of the votes didn't matter anyway. Things needed to move forward so we could get to where we are today.

The democrats obviously thought the challenges to the electoral votes would be a problem so they made their move to stop it. Trump saw this coming, and as usual was prepared. Instead of making a defensive move, he let them go too far once again, making themselves vulnerable. The actions that took place on January 6th was a trap and everything is falling into place for Trump. Even though it may look like they captured Trump's queen, he now has all he needs for the checkmate.
