

Welcome to DARPA, the number one government agency most likely to either cause or prevent the Terminator franchise from actually occurring in real life. From sea to space, and from man to machine, DARPA has its fingers in ALL the most interesting scientific research areas out there. But by far, the most interesting is the one that concerns the benefit of the Terminator franchise to DARPA to decide, in secret, and for you to find out eventually, as DARPA's military developments slowly trickle down into everyday life. DARPA does out their tax payer funded goodies to companies and agencies of their choosing. Defense (and offense) is always the top priority. They are keeping you safe, so you don't have to worry about a T-1000 knocking down your door. A.145
